THOROUGH RE-ORGANIZATION OF MCGILL LAW FACULTY NOW COMPLETED. EFFICIENCY GREATLY INCREASED

New Degree of LL.B. Instituted — Combined Courses of LL.B. and B.C.L. — Are Now Five Courses Provided — New System Will Be in Vogue With Commencement of Next Term.

For the past few years attention has been directed to the re-organization of the Law Faculty at McGill, with a view to increasing its efficiency. Continued efforts in this direction were brought to what has every appearance of being a most satisfactory conclusion when at a meeting of the University Corporation yesterday afternoon the proposals of the commission in charge of the re-organization received the necessary sanction of the authorities. Under the new arrangements, which will come into force with the commencement of the next session McGill will undoubtedly be equipped with the best Law School in the Dominion.

Unlike the English Universities, Oxford and Cambridge, which have only the B.A. degree obtainable through the channels of a course of Philosophy, Theology or Law, as the case may be, McGill has at present no general course in broad legal principles. In view of the fact that a great many men, who have no intention of entering the legal profession, but who realize the value of a general knowledge of jurisprudence, are under the past system deprived of any opportunity of obtaining such a training.

Therefore with the idea of providing a broad education in legal principles a committee has, after careful consideration, arranged for the combining of an Arts course with the study of general legal principles, and as much of the more special branches of law as can be included in such a course.

The new degree, LL.B., is obtainable after two years' study in the straight Arts course and a subsequent two years of the general principles of jurisprudence. The result of such a course will be to provide the student with the elements of an Arts education and at the same time a general acquaintance with jurisprudence as common to the Dominion as well as some knowledge of the more particular branches of legal study. This course, therefore, affords an excellent opportunity for the man who, though having no intention of entering the legal profession, realizes the value of a training in jurisprudence.

Course of Study for the Degree of LL.B.

The course of study for the LL.B. degree extends over four years. The first two years taken in the Faculty of Arts. In the third and fourth years the following subjects are studied:

1—Third Year, 1918-1919.

Roman Law.
Obligations.
Public International Law.
Insurance.

Shipping and Carriers.

Corporations.

One full course or two half courses from the Arts Curriculum of the Third and Fourth Years.

2—Fourth Year, 1919-1920; Third Year, 1919-1920.

Constitutional Law.

Jurisprudence (Legal Science).

Private International Law.

Commercial Sales.

Bills of Exchange.

Legal History (Common Law).

Elements of Contract and Tort (Common Law).

Wills and Administration.

One full course, or two half courses from the Arts Curriculum of the Third and Fourth Years.

Combined Course for Degrees of LL.B. and B.C.L.

By combining the courses for the degrees of LL.B. and B.C.L. a student can in seven years (including one year—the last—which is entirely given over to work in a lawyer's office), qualify to practice. Under the old system, efficiency was to a considerable extent sacrificed owing to the fact that the student spent a great part of three years of his course in office work. With the new system in vogue a man will, on obtaining his LL.B., be qualified to enter the second year of the B.C.L. course. Prior to his entrance to study for the latter degree he will have no time to do any office work, his time being fully occupied with lectures. But during the two subsequent years at the University he will, having already in connection with the LL.B. course disposed of several of the subjects essential to the B.C.L. course, have fewer lectures, and therefore ample time to attend to office work. Therefore during these last two years, in addition to his work at the University, and during one complete year subsequent to the completion of his studies, he will dispose of his office requirements.

DEAN OF FACULTY OF LAW.

R. W. LEE, M.A., B.C.L.

Obviously this new system will immeasurably increase the efficiency of the graduate, and the fact that he is obliged to spend one year in office work after the completion of his University work, should undoubtedly very considerably raise the standard.

Combined Course for the Degrees of LL.B. and B.C.L.

Students who have followed the course and taken the examination qualifying them for the degree of LL.B., and who have in addition attended lectures and passed examinations in the following subjects of the first year of the B.C.L. (Course A), viz., Legal History (Quebec), Real Property and Civil Procedure, will be admitted to the second year of the B.C.L. (Course A).

TWENTY-TWO MEN SIGNED UP FOR DRAFT

Capt. Simpson Received Names of Number Willing To Go.

IMMEDIATE ACTION NECESSARY.

Judging from Appearances a Draft, if Raised, Will be Extremely Popular.

At six o'clock yesterday evening, Captain Simpson was able to inform the Daily that he had received the names of twenty-two men who desired to enlist in a McGill Siege Artillery Draft should such a unit be raised in the spring. With this as a start it should not be long before the required minimum of fifty men was obtained. In view of the fact that the college session is drawing near a close, whatever action is to be taken in the matter of raising a McGill draft must be taken immediately. It is absolutely essential to the success of the scheme that at least fifty names be secured, representing as many men who would enlist in such a draft were it raised, before application is made to the military authorities for permission to recruit the complement. Therefore it is imperative, since these names must be obtained prior to securing authorization, that men who desire to avail themselves of the opportunity of going overseas with a McGill Draft should immediately turn in their names to Captain Simpson, Adjutant, McGill C.O.T.C. ALL NAMES SHOULD, IF POSSIBLE, BE IN BY THE END OF THE WEEK.

It has been pointed out before that a man does not bind himself in any way by thus handing in his name. On the other hand, however, no one should do so who has not very good reasons for supposing that he will be free to go, and will be accepted by the authorities. The purpose of this premature registration of men who expect to enlist in the draft, should it be raised, is for the purpose of having some substantial evidence that the raising of the complement would be justified.

MCGILL VS. HOCHELAGA ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Biggest Clash of Season to Decide Possessors of Art. Ross Trophy.

The game between Hochelaga and McGill scheduled for Saturday night at the Jubilee Rink, to decide who will be the holders of the Art. Ross Trophy, promises to be the best attended contest held in Montreal this season. The sale of tickets has been tremendous, and the big rink will undoubtedly be packed.

The contest promises to be fast and furious from start to finish. Hochelaga has a season's record of 55 goals in their favour, and 27 against them, a total percentage of .670; while McGill's record shows 31 for and 12 against. A comparison of these figures is decidedly in the favour of the Red and White aggregation.

Their opponents, however, are formidable, and have thus far put up an excellent brand of hockey. In any case, they may be counted upon to contest the decision to the bitter end.

Should the McGill team take the ice in the form which they displayed in the recent play-off with Loyola, they may have little fear of the outcome. On the other hand, they will

MONTREAL, FRIDAY, MARCH 15, 1918.

McGILL'S NEWLY ORGANIZED LAW FACULTY.

Elsewhere in to-day's issue of the Daily appears an article dealing with the re-organization of the McGill Law Faculty, as recently completed.

The need for a course in the general principles of jurisprudence has been long realized, and now with the institution of the LL.B. degree, the long felt deficiency has apparently been made up. This opens up the possibility of securing a general acquaintance with common law to the man who, though he has no desire to enter the legal profession, perceives nevertheless the value of this knowledge in his chosen business or profession.

By combining the courses for LL.B. and B.C.L., a double course, extending over six years at the University, and one subsequent year, prior to practising, in fulfilling office requirements, has been evolved, which in matter of efficiency is incomparably superior to the old B.C.L. three years' course.

The three years' course leading to the degree of B.C.L. will still exist as formerly, being open to those students who have matriculated and been admitted to the study of law.

The details of the re-organization, as they appear elsewhere in this issue, certainly have the appearance of being very comprehensive, and reflect the careful consideration with which the various revisions and modifications included in the new system were carried out. According to those who are in a position to make comparisons, the re-organized Faculty of Law of McGill University will supersede in efficiency any other school of legal training in the Dominion.

TURN OUT AND VOTE!

The elections which are to take place to-day have aroused more interest than has been the case for some years past, and it seems that close contests for all the major clubs and societies are assured. In the past, however, it has frequently been found that while the students have shown considerable activity in the days preceding the elections, for some unknown reason, they were backward in appearing at the polls to cast their votes.

For this state of affairs there is no excuse. If the undergraduates of McGill are not sufficiently interested in the welfare of the college to turn out on such an important occasion, they do not merit the name of students. There is nothing more sickening to the right kind of man, and, let us say, nothing more common at this University, than to hear someone remark, when urged to exercise his franchise, "Oh, yes, but I don't know either of the men, and besides, one vote either way can't make any difference." Whose fault is it that the speaker does not know the men who have come forward to occupy the most important offices in the undergraduate world? Even if he previously were ignorant of the characters of these men, what is there to prevent him, if he were truly interested in the matter, from going round amongst his fellows and finding out just what sort of men they are?

The Daily every year has printed, in a prominent place, the biographies and "platforms" of the contestants, in order that the laggards might be given no cause for a complaint that their slackness was owing to an ignorance of the question. If you have no other way of making up your mind, fellow-student, read these, and decide one way or the other. But be sure to decide, and then to act right away upon your decision.

Let to-day, then, see the Union crowded with voters who have some idea of what they are about, and then the men who are elected will have the satisfaction of feeling that they are upheld by a majority of the student body, instead of a mere portion of it, as has been the case on former occasions.

be on more or less strange ice, which to their opponents is familiar.

In brief, however, McGill's chances for capturing the Art. Ross Trophy should be a sufficient inducement to draw a record attendance of McGill supporters.

out in large numbers, and supply that very essential element, the rooting, without which the decision over Loyola might very probably have been much less overwhelming. The game will be well worth witnessing, and the satisfaction of having a share in bringing to McGill the Art. Ross Trophy should be a sufficient inducement to draw a record attendance of McGill supporters.

Except as above provided, no student will be allowed to pursue the course for the LL.B. concurrently with the course for the B.C.L.

Four Years' Course for the Degree of B.C.L.

Candidates who are qualified by matriculation or otherwise, e.g. by having passed the examination for admission to study conducted by the General Council of the Bar, to be admitted to the Faculty of Law, but who have not completed two years in the Faculty of Arts, may proceed to the degree of B.C.L. in four years, by following the combined course set forth above.

Five Courses Now Provided.

When the new regulation takes effect the Law Faculty of McGill will provide courses extending over one, two, three and four years, each of which will lead to a degree in law.

Each will have its own special character, and will be designed to meet the needs of a different class of students. They may be summarised as follows:

The One-Year Course.

The one-year course is a post-graduate course leading to the Master of Laws degree (LL.M.). It is open to students who hold the degree of B.C.L.

from McGill University or its equivalent, and to graduates of an approved law school. Candidates for this degree must have pursued for one year a course of resident study at McGill and must have submitted a thesis of conspicuous merit upon a subject previously approved by the Faculty of Law and by the Committee on Graduate Studies, and must have passed such examination as may be prescribed. Application to be admitted to this course must be lodged not later than the 1st of February in the year before the candidate proceeds to the degree. The principal feature will, no doubt, be the thesis.

It is intended that the degree shall represent a very high standard of attainment.

D.C.L. Degree.

It remains to mention the D.C.L.

degree, the conditions of which have been completely remodelled. This is available to students who have taken the B.C.L. or the LL.M. degree from McGill. After five years' delay the candidate may proceed to the higher degree by submitting a thesis on a subject previously approved, or a published work, which thesis or work shall be adjudged in either case to be "a valuable contribution to legal science." It is intended that the degree shall represent a very high standard of attainment.

GLEE CLUB.

Will those members of the Glee Club, who have been holding copies of the Club's music, kindly return these to Mr. Scott at the Physics Building, as soon as possible. These copies are the property of the Club, and he is responsible to the Club for them.

The Conductor pro tem, takes this opportunity of thanking those members who, by patient rehearsal, helped to make the sole appearance of the Club a success.

THE LAST ISSUE.

With to-day's issue the Daily will cease regular publication for this session. Possibly, however, one or two special numbers will be issued before college closes.

HAMPTON SCHOOL, MALVERN, JAMAICA.

The Trustees require a capable assistant mistress for the Hampton School, which is situated in the beautiful climate of the Santa Cruz Mountains, 2,300 feet above sea level. The school is an endowed denominational school for girls, governed by Munro and Dickenson's Trustees, who are partly nominated by the Governor and partly elected by the Parochial Board of the District. There are 112 girls in attendance, 108 boarders and 4 day pupils, both white and coloured, ranging in age from 9 to 18 years.

History, Geography, Mathematics, Latin, French, Chemistry, Botany (with practical measurements and nature study in junior forms), Drawing, Music (piano, violin, singing, class singing, harmony), Shorthand and Typewriting.

The buildings are substantial and well-ventilated. They include a large Assembly Hall, 5 class rooms, small library, 2 small science rooms, music rooms (detached from main building), dormitory and bedroom accommodation for the girls' bedrooms and a sitting-room for the mistresses. There are good verandas.

There are 24 acres of land, including a small hockey court, 4 tennis courts and a Badminton court. The roads are good for riding and driving and walks may be taken in the early morning and afternoon. There is a recreation club at Malvern, one mile distant, which the mistresses usually join. There are European residents in the district who belong to the club.

The school is 25 miles from a railway station, and 18 from the nearest seaport, but the Trustees give a travelling allowance for each mistress.

The school is somewhat differently divided from the usual English arrangement.

7.00 a.m.—Early coffee.

7.45 to 9.15—First school.

9.15—Drill.

10.00—Breakfast.

10.50 to 12.—Second school period.

12.20 to 1.40 p.m.—Third school period.

1.40 to 2.30.—Rest period.

2.45—Dinner for school.

3.30 to 4.30—Fourth period (singing, orchestra, needlework.)

6.30—Girls' supper.

7.00—Staff dinner.

The girls do preparation from 7 to 8 or 8.30 p.m. Each mistress generally gives 25 or 27 lessons weekly, lessons being 40 to 45 minutes. The supervision is divided among the staff. Each form has its own officers chosen or elected from the girls—Form Prefect, Games Captain, Librarian, etc. The girls enter for the examinations of the Oxford and Cambridge Joint Board. Most of the schools in Jamaica enter for the Cambridge Locals, and now that these are greatly modified the Trustees may possibly decide to do the same in future. The girls will enter for the Senior (or school) certificates, and for the Higher Certificate.

The assistant mistress is required to teach English and History. There is also a vacancy for a second mistress, who is capable of teaching Biology and Chemistry. Anyone wishing further information about this school please consult Miss Hurlbut.

Our Advertising Campaign Has Been a Failure

if it has not impressed upon every student of McGill University the absolute necessity of his co-operation to the success of this year's Annual. We do not wish to appear in the role of beggars for support, and we feel that by this time all our readers ought to realize that it is up to them to get out and do their part towards helping in our task of producing this publication. Do not forget that while it is the Juniors who are taking charge of the immediate work on the book, the Annual is the official students' YEAR-BOOK, and as such represents the activities of all years and all faculties.

So come along, you hesitating ones, make up your minds NOW to buy the Annual; fill out the slip printed below, and rid yourselves of the anxiety of wondering whether there will be enough Annuals to go round when they appear. We fully realize that the end of the college year is the season of empty pockets, and that is why we are giving you plenty of time to collect that $2.50.

HONORARY DEGREES TO BE GRANTED TO THREE

Lord Shaughnessy, Hon. James Beck and Maurice Hutton to Receive LL.D.

McGill will grant three honorary degrees at Convocation this spring, two to distinguished Canadians, and one to a distinguished American. Lord Shaughnessy, the Hon. James Beck and Maurice Hutton, Principal of University College, Toronto, will be the recipients of the degree of LL.D. at the annual convocation, which takes place on May 13.

The announcement was made at an adjourned meeting of the Corporation held on Wednesday. The following reasons are given for the granting of the degrees:

(1). — To Maurice Hutton, M.A. (Oxon.), LL.D., Principal of University College, Toronto, "on the ground of his eminent services in the cause of higher education in Canada and his distinguished contributions to classical and modern literature."

(2). — To the Right Hon. Lord Thomas George Shaughnessy, Kt., K.C.V.O., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, "on the ground of the distinguished service which he has rendered, not only to the Dominion of Canada, but also to the Empire as a whole, and more especially in appreciative recognition of his long connection with the great transportation system over which he so ably presides."

(3). — To the Hon. James Montgomery Beck, B.A., LL.D., ex-assistant Attorney-General of the United States of America, "on the ground of his eminence as a lawyer and a man of letters, and of his masterly advocacy of the cause of the Allied nations in placing the evidence in the case before the tribunal of neutral opinion."

THE NAME OF FRANCE.

Dr. Henry van Dyke, former American Minister to Holland, who will shortly return to the States, is the author of a poem, "The Name of France," which appears in a recent issue of the Art World.

It has been said that Dr. van Dyke resigned his post that he might be free to write as he felt. The present poem is dated Sept. 28, many weeks before his resignation was accepted. The poem follows:

The Name of France.

Give us a name to fill the mind
With the shining thoughts that lead mankind—
The glory of learning, the joy of art—
A name that tells of a splendid part
In the long, long toil and the strenuous fight
Of the human race to win its way
From the ancient darkness into the day
Of freedom, brotherhood, equal right—
A name like a star, a name of light:
I give you, France!

Give us a name to stir the blood
With a warmer glow and a swifter flood
At the touch of a courage that conquers fear—
A name like the call of a trumpet, clear
And silver-sweet and iron-strong
That brings three million men to their feet,
Ready to march and steady to meet
The foe who threatens that name with wrong—
A name that rings like a battle-song:
I give you, France!

Give us a name to move the heart
With the strength that noble grief impart—
To save mankind from the sway of the sword—
A name that calls the world to share
The burden of sacrificial strife
Where the cause at stake is the world's free life,
And the rule of the people everywhere—
A name like a vow, a name like a prayer;
I give you, France!

C. O. T. C. INSPECTED.

Last night the McGill C.O.T.C. was inspected by General Wilson, O.C. of this district. A and B Companies fell in on the Campus with rifles, and marched down to the Craig St. Drill Shed, where they were joined by C and D Companies (non-students). After the preliminary inspection C and D Company were ordered to go through company drill, which they did in a most creditable manner. A and B company were then called upon to do their share, which was also very creditable.

After the inspection was over, Gen. Wilson made a short address, in which he said that he was very pleased with the appearance of the Unit, praising the officers and men for their smart appearance and movements.

SCISSORED SENTIMENT.

CORNELL: W. K. Norton, '18, narrowly escaped capture or death in the aviation service in France. Norton, who was a student in architecture, entered Cornell in 1914 and left May 28 of last year to enlist in the aviation service. He received his commission as first lieutenant September 20, and was soon sent to France. The news of the aviator's experience was sent here by his mother, who lives in Omaha, Neb.

COLUMBIA: A local collegiate lawn tennis championship will be provided this year, as most of the New York colleges will play one another. The teams of Columbia, New York University, City College and Stevens Institute will meet the Fordham players, according to plans made known recently by Frank O'Shea, the Fordham manager.

ITHACA: A third term for juniors in the college of civil engineering will be impossible unless more juniors sign up to take the summer course. This course would begin on May 27 and continue until September 18, substituting for the first term course of 1918-19. In this way present juniors would be graduated in February instead of May or June, 1919.

HARVARD: Two courses in military instruction will be given at Harvard this summer under the auspices of the Harvard summer school, according to a recent announcement.

KANSAS: About a thousand pounds of tin roofing, it is estimated, was torn from the roof of Fraser Hall on Saturday noon by the strong wind. One very large piece was blown several hundred feet from the building, and smaller pieces were scattered about. As soon as the wind had subsided in the afternoon a temporary roof was constructed.

The Detroit News have gone in for research. They have found two poets who were acquainted with the coal shortage. Says Tennyson: "The frost is here and fuel is dear." And quoth Shakespeare: "The fuel is gone that did maintain that fire."

Since the outbreak of the war, 18 educational institutions have had to discontinue athletic, 22 colleges out of 26 have eliminated pre-season coaching, and 23 out of 26 have cut down their training tables. The three who continued the practice reduced the cost greatly.

MICHIGAN: After a three months' trial, Michigan's schedule adopted in October, which called for 7.30 o'clock classes, has been abandoned, and beginning last week, classes commenced at 8 in the morning. Eastern time, instead of central, will be hereafter observed on the campus.

Figures compiled by a Boston paper show that 102,353 men and women are attending college in the United States against 123,827 last year. Entering classes have shrunk from 31,400 to 28,040. Attendance at women's colleges has slightly increased.

THE WAR-TIME CANDIES.

Consumption in war time of candies containing little or no sugar has been approved by the United States Food Administration. It means the saving of sugar without cessation of the confectionery industry. Four kinds of candies are recommended. The first includes chocolate and cocoa candies, with centres of nuts and fruits, and uncoated soft candy, such as nougatines. The second includes stick candy, lemon drops, peanut brittle and the like. Marshmallows and similar candy compose the third group, and in the fourth are gumdrops and jellies.

The Royal Military College of Canada.

There are few national institutions of more value and interest to the country than the Royal Military College of Canada. Notwithstanding this, its object and the work it accomplishes are not generally understood by the general public.

The College is a Government Institution, designed primarily for the purpose of giving instructions in all branches of military science to Cadets and Officers of the Canadian Militia. In fact, it corresponds to Woolwich and Sandhurst.

The Commandant and military instructors are all officers in the list of the Imperial army, left for the purpose, and there is in addition a company of professors for the civil subjects which are such an important part of the College course. Medical attendance is also provided.

The College is organized on a strict military basis, the cadets receiving a practical and scientific training in subjects essential to a sound military education.

The course includes a thorough grounding in Mathematics, Civil Engineering, Surveying, Physics, Chemistry, French and English.

The military discipline maintained at the College is one of the most rigid in the world, and the constant practice of gymnastics, drill and exercises of all kinds, ensure health and excellent physical condition.

Commissioners in all branches of the Imperial Service are offered annually.

The diploma of graduation is considered equivalent to a Bachelor of Land Surveyor to be equivalent to a Bachelor of Law degree, and by the Regulations of the Law Society of Ontario, it obtains the same rank.

The length of the course is three years in three terms of 9½ months each.

The total cost of the course, including board, uniform, instructional material, and all extras is about $900.

The annual competitive examination for admission to the College takes place in June of each year at the headquarters of the several military districts.

For full particulars regarding this examination and for any other information, application should be made to the secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa, Ont., or to the Commandant, Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.
